

I love Christmas lights. I know this might come as a shock (NOT), but I love the look of Christmas lights on a tree, outside in the darkness. I love white lights and colored lights. I really love the green lights that come off my Santa Yoda that is in my yard and I REALLY love looking at the lights on Christmas Eve as they shine from the trees in our sanctuary during the singing of "Silent Night."

I must admit that I often want to skip right over the season of Advent to get to Christmas. But I also know that there is value in preparing ourselves for Christmas. There is something about lighting a candle every day on the advent wreath or opening up a window on the advent calendar. There is great value in thinking about what it means that the light of the world, Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is coming into the world, considering all the darkness that often surrounds us in our lives.

This year, during the three Wednesdays in December prior to Christmas Eve, we are going to be taking some time to prepare our hearts and minds for the birth of Christ. Christ be Our Light, based off hymn 715 in our hymnal, will be the foundation we'll use as we walk towards Christmas and the birth of the light of the world. We will look at how Christ is a "light for us," a "light for the needy," and how we can "be the light." I invite you to join us on Wednesday nights at 7:30pm for these special Advent series.

As we move towards Christmas, let us not just prepare by putting up Christmas lights, making cookies, and sending out Christmas cards. Let us prepare through worship, prayer, and loving our neighbor. As it says in John 1: "The true light, which enlightens everyone, was coming into the world."

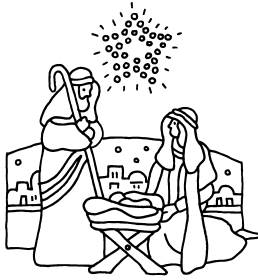

Our true light is coming to bring us hope, salvation, and new life. Let us worship him not only during this time, but every day! For that we can say, "Thanks be to God!" Amen.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Yours in Christ, Pastor Brad

Narrative Lectionary Stories for December 2014

December 7: Esther 4:1-17 Esther

King Ahasuerus was ruler over Persia at the time of the exile. Having eliminated one queen, Vashti, for refusing to degrade herself in front of his drunken feast's guests, the King chose Esther to become his new queen. Queen Esther was a beautiful Jewish woman. King Ahasuerus promoted a man named Haman above even the princes. One day while Haman entered the king's gate he passed by Mordecai, a Jew. Mordecai refused to bow to Haman because Jews bowed only to Yahweh. Haman became enraged and plotted to have Mordecai killed. Haman approached the king and requested the king's approval to put out a bounty and a decree that all Jews would be put to death. Mordecai put on sackcloth and sat in ash – a traditional form of Jewish lament. He then turned to his niece, Esther, who had become queen, for help. He implored her to ask the king to change his mind. Esther feared a wrathful reply. Mordecai reminded her that God may have put her in the king's house for such a time as this. Esther agreed, and the king agreed to her request. The Jews were saved and Haman was hung for his treachery.

December 14: Isaiah 42:1-9 Light to the Nations

The book of Isaiah was written for three distinct time periods. Chapters 1-39 were written about the period when the Northern Kingdom of Israel fell to Assyria. Its message was of warning of exile. Chapters 40-55 were written during the time of exile in Babylonia. It was a dark time for Israel and the message was one of waiting and hope. Chapters 56-66 were written after the people had returned from exile, and praised God for God's goodness and faithfulness to God's people. Isaiah 42 is one of four "servant songs." In these servant songs God promises that an unknown servant (likely the nation of Israel) would come and administer justice to the nations. This is a message of hope for an exiled people, not only that they would be saved, but that they would be exalted to a position to bless all the nations with justice.

December 21: Matthew 1:18-25 Jesus as Immanuel

The book of Matthew was written about 80 years after Jesus walked the earth. Early Christians were still working out how they were going to show up in the world; whether they would behave more like Jews or more like Gentiles. Matthew speaks to both perspectives, pointing out that what's important is not so much how people behave, but how God acts in the world. God sent God's son, Jesus, into the world to be God in the world. Jesus bridged the gap between God and humanity so that nothing could separate us from the presence of God.

December 24: Luke 2:1-20 Christ is Born!

An engaged, pregnant couple head to the grooms ancestral home for a census so that they can be taxed. Due to the census, they can't reside in the inn but the kindness of the owner allows them to sleep in the stable. A baby comes, lowly shepherds worship at the prompting of angels, and the Son of God is born. God is with us and the Messiah has come. Though a story as familiar as any in history, the story of the birth of Christ continues to inspire us as the king of kings is not born comfortably or cleaning, but messy, just like us and for us.

December 28: Matthew 2:1-12 Visit of the Wise Men

Wise men from a far off land come because they have heard that a king has been born. They find the baby Jesus with his parents and give him gifts. But in the background is a sense of danger for King Herod has heard the same prophesy and wants to find the child's location from the three kings. But God intercedes and sends the wise men home on a different road. Even from the beginning, Jesus threatens the ruling authority because God is now doing something new.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE FROM BISHOP RICK HOYME

All is Calm

My first parish was on the prairie of northern Montana. Each year, the week following Easter, all the pastors of our denomination from Montana, Wyoming and northern Idaho would converge on Livingston, Montana, for our annual pastors' conference. Now, for those of you not familiar with such important things, Livingston is known as one of the premier trout fishing locations in North America. My first year I was excited to take some time from the conference and head to one the great streams surrounding Livingston and begin the process of becoming a great trout angler. I had no money, so I borrowed a fly rod from one friend, waders from another and a fishing vest from a third. I bought a book on fly fishing in Montana, read the short story "A River Runs through It" and was good to go.

I arrived at the conference and stored my gear, and began looking for Ron Johnstad, a longtime Montana pastor, a legendary fly fisher and a native of Pigeon Falls, Wis. He would know where to fish, what fly to use and how to get there! As a rookie, I was a little in awe of Ron and hesitant to bother him, but I took a deep breath, introduced myself, told him I knew where Pigeon Falls was, and asked what I hoped were not stupid questions. When I stopped to breathe he looked down at me and said, "Don't bother ... the water is too busy."

"Huh?"

"The water is too busy. We had a lot of snow and the rivers are running high and full of sediment. There's too much in the water and the trout won't be able to see the flies that you are using. The water is too busy. Don't even try 'cause you won't catch anything. I didn't even bring my rod."

"Oh."

Thirty-five years later, I still remember that phrase, "The water's too busy."

And I remember it most often this time of year. "The water's too busy."

My wife Diane and I went to a movie the other night at the theater in the mall in Eau Claire. The parking lot was full, the food court was full. There were people everywhere—and, it wasn't even Thanksgiving yet! I turned to my wife and asked naively, (which, by the way, is how I ask most of my questions), "What are all these people doing here?" She gave me her 'who is this moron and why did I marry him' look and said, "Shopping."

"Oh."

As Christmas nears, the waters will only get busier. And we wonder why we can't see Jesus.

In my last congregation we had four Christmas Eve worship services. Each one would end the same—with the singing of "Silent Night." I would sit there and look out over the hundreds of people who would find their way to that sanctuary on that day and see in their faces something I never could see at the mall. I would see calm. I would see peace. I would see Jesus.

So here it is; here's the catch. Do whatever you do in the weeks ahead to get ready for whatever you do for Christmas. Be as busy as you want or need to be. But, DO NOT skip church on Christmas Eve (or Christmas Day). Just don't do it. It is one thing you can do to clear the water and make way for the Christ child to re-enter your life. It works. I don't know how, but it works.

Merry Christmas!

Bishop Rick Hoyme

WOMEN OF TRINITY NOTES

Well October and November proved to be no different than the rest of the year here at Trinity. We lost two wonderful ladies from our congregation, Helen Siler and Catherine Evenson. We also served a funeral for Dennis Korbel. He was not a member here at Trinity but his family was so appreciative of the way that our church welcomed them. Please remember all of their families in your prayers.

On November 24th we will be providing bars and a couple of workers for the 'Teachers Appreciation Meal' at the Boyceville High School and we were also asked to provide bars to the 'Community Thanksgiving Service' that evening. Thanks to all that helped out for these events.

We hope that many of you plan to join us this year for the lefse making. I can't tell you how great it is to be with everyone in the kitchen sharing in the great conversations and fellowship. Look for the signup sheet on the table in the narthex.

I hope that you have all received your postcards in the mail for our annual 'Spirit of Christmas Lefse and Bake Sale' on December 13th. We look forward to seeing all the wonderful baked goods come in, as we all know Trinity is filled with fantastic cooks!!!

We will be packing baskets for the shut-ins on December 14th before church in the fellowship hall. Please feel free to join us. We are always in need of people to deliver a basket to a shut-in, so if you can, stop by and pick one up.

Ladies, don't forget to join us for the 'Women of Trinity Christmas Gathering' on December 6th. Please sign up so we can better plan the amount of food we need. It will be a great way to spend a Saturday morning!!

I hope that you all had a really nice Thanksgiving with your family and friends.

I want to wish you all the most wonderful Christmas Season!!

ANNUAL REPORTS

ALL reports for the ANNUAL REPORT
 Are due Sunday January 4th!!!

Late reports will not be included in the ANNUAL REPORT!

The ANNUAL REPORT will be ready for viewing on January 18th, two weeks before the Annual Meeting which is February 1, 2015.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
 Ring, happy bells, across the snow:
 The year is going, let him go;
 Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
 For those that here we see no more,
 Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
 Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring in the valiant man and free,
 The larger heart the kindlier hand;
 Ring out the darkness of the land,
 Ring in the Christ that is to be.

January

- 1      Office Closed      Happy New Year!

Holly is a popular decoration at Christmastime, not just for its beauty but also for its religious significance. Holly's thorny leaves and red berries symbolize Jesus' Passion and blood, reminding us of the fate awaiting the Christ child. According to old Christian legends, holly first sprang up under Christ's footsteps, and his cross was made from the wood of holly.

"Away in a Manger" PLATE

Make this special plate as a gift to give this Christmas.

What you need:

- Clear glass plate
- Acrylic craft paint
- Paintbrush and water
- Black permanent marker

What you do:

1. Turn plate upside-down on table. Paint one of your palms brown, and press it on the center of the plate.
2. Rotate the plate so fingers point down. Using yellow paint, make a straw bed in the palm.
3. Mix white and brown paint for Jesus' face. Use white paint for a swaddled body.
4. Paint a yellow star above Jesus and a yellow border around the plate rim.
5. When paint is dry, turn plate over. With the marker, draw dots for Jesus' eyes and write the words of Luke 2:12 around the plate rim.
